Thank you for the opportunity to comment on the proposed revised amendments to Chapter 6.

The revised amendments appear to better align with the compact's statutory language than the initial proposed rule amendments, which seemed to contradict statute. Thank you. It is important for rules issued by the commission to stay within the bounds of law.

With that said, myself and others have long expressed concerns about how the automatic discipline reciprocity provisions included in the compact statutory language have the potential to improperly diminish due process rights afforded to physicians. It is encouraging to see more discussion about this topic.
